principal. She was one of the three ladies to serve in the Legislature at one time and I'm sure everybody still remembers her many accomplishments and delightful appearances here in the Chamber. Miss Florence Reynolds.

PRESIDENT: Senator Carsten.

SENATOR CARSTEN: Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and members of the Legislature, ladies and gentlemen, it gives me a great deal of pleasure this afternoon to introduce a former member of this legislative body and one who comes from my District but now lives in Omaha. His former home was Nebraska City, the home of J. Sterling Morton and the founder of Arbor Day and Missouri River country, Senator Rick Budd.

PRESIDENT: Senator Mahoney.

SENATOR MAHONEY: Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and members of the Legislature, it gives me pleasure this afternoon to introduce the leader of the clan, the cousin-in-law of mine, an uncle of the firey redheaded Senator, Senator Tom Fitzgerald says Perry Mason, but our Senator from Douglas County, and also a candidate for the Congressional District on the other side of the aisle, I believe in equal time, and also a gentleman who was the boss of Senator Tom Fitzgerald until January of 1975, the Postmaster General of the City of Omaha and all the environs around it...

PRESIDENT: You have two minutes, Senator.

SENATOR MAHONEY: ..when you let the Irish speak, you know, they have to have their full limit. I get a minute from Senator Fitzgerald, but also a member of the prestigious Omaha Public Power District Board, a man who served in the Legislature from 1957 to 1961, my predecessor, Mr. John P. (Red) Munnelly. Mr. President, for the last thirty seconds, his brother who accompanied him here today, a member of the Nebraska Public Service Commission, Mr. Jimmy Munnelly.

PRESIDENT: Senator Syas' light isn't on, but we should recognize Senator Syas since he invented the 13th District. He's been here longer than anybody and he doesn't have any predecessors. That's why he doesn't have anybody to introduce. Senator Syas. You don't get the microphone, George. We'll just introduce you. Senator Frank Lewis. We are not going to introduce...you talk too much anyway, Senator.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I was hoping you would make that decision. It's tough to follow Syas and Mahoney, both in bills and speaking. Mr. President, it is my privilege today to introduce two personal friends that are former members of this body. They're around a lot so I sometimes don't need to introduce them. First of all, the gentleman who represented the old third district which became the third and the 45th and part of Senator
